

DYNAMITE IN HER KINDLING WOOD

Startling Discovery of Mrs. H. G. Clark.

She Accuses Her Neighbor George Ross; Seeks Warrant.

Trouble Over Trespassing of Chickens Leads to a Most Serious Accusation.

Startling in every way if true is the method of retaliation which George Ross has inaugurated against his neighbor Mrs. H. G. Clark of 37 West Sixth South street because two of her chickens trespassed on her premises. A warrant was sought yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Clark charging Ross with destroying property and malicious mischief.

The quarrel seems to have had its origin in the fact that both families have some chickens which are said to have been seen enough to remain in their own good home. Mr. Ross chased his neighbor's chickens and hurled after them some sticks of wood, which Mrs. Clark, unknowingly placed in the stove on last Saturday. The result was a terrific explosion which well nigh set the house on fire, burned Mrs. Clark's daughter and shattered the stove, to say nothing of the fright and alarm which the thunder like explosion caused.

Finds Dynamite Cap.

This put Mrs. Clark on her guard and since then she has been busily engaged in conducting a microscopic investigation of every piece of wood that goes into her new stove. While thus engaged she discovered a No. 2 dynamite cap placed securely in a piece of solid kindling wood. She was convinced that Ross had placed it there, but awaited further evidence.

On the next day she caught Ross throwing kindling over into her yard again, pretending to throw at the chickens but she noticed, she says, that he carefully threw one piece where he thought it most likely to be picked up immediately. Emerging from her place of hiding she picked up this piece, which proved to be carefully loaded. Mrs. Clark brought this stick of kindling wood to the police office yesterday morning, and turned it over to Patrolman Brown, who began a careful investigation. With a chisel he cut the wood in two and dislodged a No. 2 cap. A hole had been bored in one end of the stick and the cap carefully wrapped had then been inserted in the hole. The hole had neatly been filled up with a wooden plug.

Swears to Warrant.

Mrs. Clark says they have had several words about the chickens but she claims that his chickens are just as guilty of trespassing as hers. She asserts that Ross has been making life miserable for her and last Saturday she warned him of her determination to have him arrested. Enraged at this, Ross began throwing stones at her house. She says and making all sorts of threats. The climax of the drama came when Ross as if he alleged sprung his dynamite stunt. Mrs. Clark then visited the Chief of Police to receive a warrant.

"H E ASK me for set up. I say no and then he gave me bad names but I didn't like to say them because there is ladies in the room, Judge—such was the testimony of John Bessinger against Bert Hickock. 'Guilty or not guilty?' 'Oh, your Honor, I—well, for the land of me I never remember seeing that man in my whole life,' replied Hickock. After confessing that he might have been slightly under the influence of liquor, Hickock turned to the Judge and, with all the spirit and eloquence that he was willing, declared that he was willing to be right out of town on the next train, but the old stage's game wouldn't work and he nearly fainted as the Judge called out, loud and clear: 'Thirty days!'

"Mr. Taylor, did you use abusive language toward D. A. Markell while trying to sell him a pair of old shoes?" asked the court. "Probably I said something I didn't ought to," said, but, why, your Honor, I only said half a dozen words. At this point Mr. Markell was sworn and testified as follows: "While walking you should just have heard him—what he didn't say I don't know. He suppose I was a fool, but I was a business for five years and den he tank he tell me I was a fool." The court agreed that Markell knew his business best and gave Taylor ten days in which to think it over.

He presented a pitiable spectacle as he arose with his head all bandaged in cotton and bangles so as to leave exposed only his eyes and mouth. From the upper lip of which shone out a half-healed scar which told the story of his recent episode with the Chinese.

"Are you guilty of hurling stones at William Ingalls, of striking and otherwise abusing him so as to cause great bodily pain?" asked the court. "Yes, your Honor, I am," replied the defendant, and he testified that he had struck Ingalls with a stone and that while walking on Main street Hassard bumped into him and knocked him into the ditch. "He repeated the performance, but I was not hurt," he said, whereupon he instantly became enraged and told me come over to the alley and he put it on me in a quar-

FOOD FACTS.

What an M. D. Learned.

A prominent physician of Rome, Georgia, went through a food experience which he makes public: "It was my own experience that first led me to advocate Grape-Nuts food and I also know from having prescribed it to convalescents and other weak patients that the food is a wonderful restorer and restorer of nerve and brain tissue, as well as muscle. It improves the digestion and sick patients always gain just as I did in strength and weight very rapidly."

"I was in such a low state that I had to give up my work entirely and go to mountains of this State, but two months there did not improve me; in fact I was not quite as well as when I left home. My food absolutely refused to sustain me and it became plain that I must change, then I began to use Grape-Nuts food and in two weeks I could walk a mile without the least fatigue and in five weeks returned to my home and practice, taking up hard work again. Since that time I have felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life."

"As a physician who seeks to help all sufferers I consider it a duty to make these facts public." Name given by Trial 10 days on Grape-Nuts when the regular food does not seem to sustain the body will work miracles. "There's a reason." and upon being unanimously approved the following were appointed a committee to draft the resolution by President Moyle: George Heggen, chairman; Cummings and Henderson.

Mr. Heggen then placed in nomination the name of E. G. Woolley, Jr., to fill the vacancy created and to act in Mr. Young's place until his successor is duly elected and qualified. Mr. Newman objected because there were two members absent, and Judge Henderson objected on the ground that the meeting had not been called for that purpose. He also stated that Matt Thomas was well as one or two others had expressed themselves as candidates for the position. Mr. Heggen then withdrew his nomination of Mr. Woolley and the vacancy will exist until the next meeting of the board.

Mr. Young left last night for Raymond, Canada, where he will make his home in the future.

The two favorites seem to be Woolley and Thomas, with the majority in favor of the former. Both are young men, Mr. Woolley being a well-known broker and Mr. Thomas an attorney. Mr. Woolley was the one named by Mr. Young, and as it has always been the custom to accede to the wish of the retiring member in such a case, the impression is general that Mr. Woolley will be confirmed at the next meeting of the board.

WASTE OF WATER LEADS TO ACTION

Stringent Rules Governing Sprinkling of Lawns to Be Enforced.

WATER USERS in Salt Lake are to be restricted in their sprinkling after July 1. The lavish waste of water by residents in the upper district is the cause of all the trouble and people in the middle and lower districts are made to suffer for the acts of the others. There is plenty of water this year and no need for any restrictions if the water were not permitted to run to waste. The residents in the upper district, however, are said to let the water run almost continuously and in this way the pipes are kept drained and the pressure is insufficient to force the water to the university grounds and other lands to the north which are supplied through the high line. The elevation on the high line where the water is wasted is 4550 feet, while the elevation at the university is 4700 feet, or 150 feet higher.

Superintendent Hines says the only means of preventing waste by the people in the upper districts, as well as in other parts of the city, is by metering the system. About a month ago he issued instructions to the residents of the upper district, notifying them to stop wasting the water, but they apparently paid little or no notice to the order.

After July 1, Mr. Hines will send out notices to all water users in the city notifying the time for sprinkling. At the university and beyond R street on the upper line, no restrictions will be placed on the use of water. In all other parts of the upper district the time for sprinkling will be between the hours of 5 and 8 o'clock in the morning. In the middle district residents will be allowed to sprinkle between 5 and 9 o'clock in the evening. In the lower districts the unrestricted hours will be from 5 to 8 a. m. Under the ordinances, thirty minutes sprinkling is allowed for each 100 square yards of lawn. Persons having more than 600 square yards of lawn will be allowed, in addition to the above time, thirty minutes for each additional 100 square yards.
